

Precautions for use

Infinity | The engineered surface shall in no way be liable for the improper use of its slabs. We recommend you comply with the following indications, to avoid any problems or accidental damage:

- prevent accidental knocks both near edges and corners (whatever the chosen finish) and on the work top surface;
- avoid particularly heavy point loads on the work top, above all near any overhanging parts. Specifically, do not stand on the work top for any reason, to avoid concentrating the weight of a person on a limited surface area;
- do not use any abrasive materials to clean the work top;
- do not use ceramic knives directly on the work top. The use of steel knives in direct contact with the work top must also be avoided, above all with Polished finishes;
- the use of chopping boards is recommended, above all with work tops with Polished finishes;
- the use of trivets is recommended to avoid direct contact with hot objects (e.g. pans, coffee pots, etc.)
- avoid prolonged contact between the work top surface and highly concentrated cleaning products (with both very low and very high pH). These precautions are valid generally and even more so for work tops with Polished surface finish;

In the event of surface scratch on any type of installed surface, contact Infinity | The engineered surface to assess the appropriate repair procedure.

It is underlined that Infinity | The engineered surface shall not be liable for damage or defects arising due to the failure to comply with the above instructions and the instructions given in the cleaning and maintenance section of the technical manual.
